CORPORATE GOVERNANCE AND REPORTING OBLIGATIONS TRAINING COURSE

Introduction

Effective corporate governance is a cornerstone of sustainable organizations and resilient economies. Modern institutions are expected to operate with transparency, accountability, and strategic oversight while meeting increasing regulatory and stakeholder reporting obligations. This five-day executive programme examines global corporate governance frameworks and reporting standards used by leading institutions, including the OECD Corporate Governance Principles, International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), ESG reporting frameworks, and integrated reporting models. Participants will gain insights into the roles and responsibilities of boards of directors, governance structures, financial disclosure obligations, and stakeholder accountability mechanisms. The programme also explores emerging governance issues including sustainability reporting, environmental and social governance (ESG), and responsible corporate leadership. Through global case studies and governance simulations, participants will acquire practical tools for strengthening governance systems, improving institutional oversight, and meeting international reporting obligations with credibility and transparency.
